"PEG O' MY HEART."

Oliver Morosco production. The supreme success of successes. By J. Hartley Manners. The play in which Laurette Taylor made a world's record run of two years in New York City. Blanche Hall, who played the Southern cities last season, will be Peg. Colonial Theatre soon.

"A MODERN EVE."

Real interest is being evidenced by music lovers in the forthcoming engagement of the Berlin opera. "A Modern Eve," which will be presented at the Colonial Theatre soon.

The delightful melodies of Victor Hollander and Jean Gilbert, composers of the music of "A Modern Eve," already enjoy a widespread vogue. Mort H. Singer is credited with the greatest success in his producing career in this musical offering, which was imported from Berlin and presented last season in Chicago, where it sprang into immediate favor. Mr. Singer has been liberally complimented for his elaborate staging of the operetta, which is pronounced the last thing in scenic environment and costume. The scenes of the story are laid in France, and the interest centers about the Cascadier family, consisting of father, mother and two attractive daughters. While advocating sex equality, the mother assumes superiority for her sex, and dominates the household. The husband and father is in reality the housekeeper, while Mme. Cascadier practices law and attends her clubs. The two daughters are also engaged in professional pursuits, one as a physician, the other as an artist. They are to be independent of men and above silly love affairs, but two ardent and desirable suitors complicate matters, finally routing the forceful mother and compelling the daughters to capitulate to love.

Among the most attractive numbers to be heard are "Goodbye, Everybody," "Hello, Sweetheart," "You Are Such a Lonesome Moon Tonight," "Rita, My Margarita," "Is the Girl You Married Still the Girl You Love?" and "Every Day Is Christmas When You're Married." The famous "Modern Eve" baritone chorus will be a feature and the sensational dancing four, exponents of the art of tango and characteristic dancing, will prove a revelation and a novelty.

Mrs. M. W. Sims Honoree

at Valentine Party—

Distinctively attractive and faultless in every detail was the Valentine tea given on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Albert J. Buchanan, who named as honoree Mrs. Milton W. Sims Sr. On this occasion the season of St. Valentine was tastefully emphasized in every possible way. As the heralds of spring are everywhere in evidence, the joyousness of nature aids our thoughts, in conceiving the fact that we become "love awakened" when the flowers bloom, and a "Hiver-lis comes upon the burnished dove." It was indeed a spring day, and the guests, including only the membership of the Woman's Club, were the joyous participants of this well appointed party that accentuated the theme of Valentine and so perfectly upheld the color scheme of red and white.

The guests were received by Mrs. Buchanan and the honoree, Mrs. Sims, who was elegantly attired and held a gift bouquet of white carnations and lilies of the valley which, through the love and thoughtfulness of Mrs. Frederick Blodgett of College, added a touch that completed her attractiveness. With every greeting there came an excessive reverberation of joyous expressions throughout the rooms because of the fact that the guests were permitted to meet and pay honor to this social leader who has become an idol of love in their hearts, and to accord homage to the fair hostess, who shares with the honoree the honors of social and literary triumphs.

The home was beautiful in its floral embellishment, foliage plants forming the background for the clustering of lovely blossoms, quantities of narcissus and violets being effectively arranged. The tea table in the dining room, which was overspread with rich cluny lace, held as its central adornment a tiffany basket of narcissus. Red satin ribbon was adjusted into a butterfly bow on the handle. Burning tapers in crystal holders and dishes of bonbons further emphasized the color motif. Mesdames W. S. Wilson and J. S. Mooring presided at the tea urn, and Mesdames E. J. Fountain, A. M. Waldrop, R. S. Webb Jr. and Tyler Haswell and Miss Blanche Buchanan passed delicious sandwiches, salted nuts and confections. Mrs. R. S. Webb Sr. and Mrs. J. Webb Howell charmed the guests with piano and vocal numbers, at the conclusion of which refreshment plates of cherry ice with angel food was passed, containing a Valentine for each guest. Presented to Mrs. Sims was a similar plate with a corsage bouquet of narcissus and violets, which held a Valentine on which was written:

"The dearest, the truest, the sunniest soul:

We are all just crazy about her. She adds so much brightness and cheer to our lives—

What on earth would we do without her?"

The plate was presented by Mrs. L. L. McInnis, whose words of presentation were marked by their usual note of freshness and originality.

Miss Rowena Rhodes Honored

Mrs. John Sharp Williams Jr.—

The hospitable home of Mrs. A. M. Rhodes was on Wednesday afternoon the scene of a merry social gathering of girls and young matrons, the event of the hour being a Valentine musical given by the daughter of the home, given by the daughter of the home, Miss Rowena Rhodes, to the Bachelor Girls' Club. The pleasing affair was also a social courtesy in compliment to Mrs. John Sharp Williams Jr. of Yazoo City, Miss., whose visits are eagerly looked forward to by her numerous friends. Suggestions of the Valentine season were everywhere in the attractive rooms; vivid red hearts adorning the archways. Carnations of a crimson hue were clustered in graceful and artistic arrangement in the music room, while in the dining room fragrant sweet peas of delicate shades contributed beauty and sweetness. Prior to the musical program, envelopes embellished with a red heart were passed. Within each one was a Valentine containing a verse which described some one present. These on being read aloud created a contest of much merriment as guesses were made as to the identity of the guests.

Mrs. Rhodes and Mrs. R. E. Cole distributed red heart-shaped programs, which read as follows:

Where My Caravan Has Rested... Miss McDougald.

Where My Caravan Has Rested... H. Lohr.

Where My Caravan Has Rested... Miss Zuber.

Selection... Miss Garth.

Reading... Miss Park.

Eagle... MacDowell.
Humoresque... Dvorak.
Miss Field.

My Rosary... E. Neyrin.
Miss Deel Weddington.

Crescendo... Per Lassen.
Miss Mawhinney.

Compensation... Carrie Jacobs Bond.
Miss Mary McInnis.

The rendition of the entire program was most exquisite and the hour was a musical feast and also a charming social triumph. The delicious refreshments served featured the Valentine motif perfectly, this completing this pleasant affair.

Owens-Stephan—

A wedding of marked interest to many was that of Miss Inez Stephan and Mr. Kyle Owens, which was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stephan, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The occasion was a quiet one, only the immediate families of the contracting parties and a few intimate friends being present. The guests on entering were served delicious fruit punch by Mesdames Edward Metzler of Houston and Charles Stephan from an attractively arranged punch table. The reception suite was converted into one apartment, which was gorgeously adorned with white carnations and narcissus, which gave the sweetest perfume to the entire ceremonial suite. Beneath a canopy of smilax at one end of the room an altar was beautifully formed with palms, ferns and clusters of white carnations bowed with white maline, burning tapers among the greenery producing a most pleasing effect. Just preceding the ceremony, Mrs. George Adams, with much sweetness and feeling, sang "Because." She also played the wedding march. The bride was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Willie Owens of Houston, who entered with the best man, Mr. George Stephan, a brother of the bride. Little Miss Dorothy Stephan, carrying the ring in the heart of a gorgeous Easter lily, preceded the bride and groom. Rev. M. E. Weaver of the First Baptist Church was the officiating minister. Sacred and sincere were the solemn words as he pronounced the prayer of benediction, and the bride and groom spoke the beautiful vows that will forever bind their lives in happy wedlock. The bride was handsomely gowned in a spring coat suit of pea green cloth. She wore hat and all harmonizing accessories and carried white carnations arm fashion. The young couple left immediately after the ceremony to attend Mardi Gras at New Orleans, taking with them the good wishes from not only the assembled friends present, but others. A display of gifts of value and beauty attested the regard felt for the contracting parties. The bride is a most estimable young lady, possessed of many charming traits of character. Mr. Owens, who is in the garage business, is a splendid young man of exemplary habits, and has made many warm friends since making his residence in Bryan.

Musical Tea by Miss Park's Pupils— Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock the smaller pupils of Miss Anita Park gave at her home a musical tea, with their parents and friends as guests. Some of the children have studied only a few months, but they played with a musical understanding reflecting credit on both teacher and pupils. While the more advanced ones displayed marked individual interpretative ability. After the following program tea and sandwiches were served by the hostess and her mother:

Mrs. Doane Hostess to Friday Club—

Mrs. J. S. Doane gave a delightful hospitality to the Friday Club on yesterday afternoon, her handsome home wearing a festive air suggestive of the approach of Valentine Day.

Festoons of hearts of vivid red and narcissus in wicker baskets bowed with red ribbon made touches of brightness in every attractive place. In this pleasant environment the guests spent the afternoon hours very joyously, as they usually do with such a charming hostess as they always find Mrs. Doane to be. Four tables were placed in the music room and the diversion of the hour, six-handed forty-two, furnished pleasing entertainment. Table pads in the shape of a crimson heart with pencil of same shade attached were used by the guests at each table in keeping score. After the enjoyment of many exciting games the hostess, assisted by Mrs. F. E. Hood and Mrs. S. H. Dunlap, served the guests with marshmallow mousse and angel food. The two children of the home, Dorothy and Jack, always so happy and childish with friendly greetings, elicited much admiration from the guests.

Dainty Church Tea—

A tea for the Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal Church, given on Wednesday afternoon by Mesdames J. W. Doremus, Cogland and David Reid, at the home of the former, was a pleasant occasion of the week, and one thoroughly enjoyed by the many friends of these charming hostesses. A dainty refreshment course was passed during the calling hours, and at the conclusion the plate of silver was well filled with free-will offerings, which gave testimony to the generosity of all the callers.

Valentine Party—

The ladies of the Episcopal Guild gave a beautiful Valentine party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Haswell this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, having as their honor guests the Episcopal churchmen from the student body of the A. & M. College and Allen Academy, numbering together about fifty young men. An equal number of Bryan girls were invited to enjoy this pleasant affair with them, and the occasion proved one of unusual brilliancy and pleasure.

An exquisite floral decoration adorned the elegant reception room, and garlands of ribbons strung with red hearts and other Valentine emblems added a charming individuality to the scene. A program of music and readings was enjoyed and a delicious refreshment course of salad, sandwiches, olives, nuts and hot coffee was served in the prettily appointed dining room.

The occasion was one of real pleasure, not only to the young people who enjoyed heartily the merry hospitality accorded them, but also the joint hostesses who worked so earnestly in making the affair a success.

Surprise Party—

Mrs. J. N. Caldwell was most agreeably surprised on Thursday afternoon by her neighbors coming to her home laden with good things for a surprise feast and joyfully greeting their popular neighbor on her natal day. The first intimation she had of the pleasure in store for herself was when two of her neighbors came in supposedly on a call. These soon were followed by many others, each one greeting her with words of love and best wishes. Miss Pearl Kern and Mrs. Spreckelmeyer gave several readings to the pleasure of all. They also sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold." This occasion, bringing with it the thoughtfulness and kindness of her neighbors, will always be a sweet and treasured remembrance by the honoree. The program of the party was: Grandma Jenkins, Mrs. J. B. Kern, Misses Galla and David Kern, Mrs. James Galloway and children, Mrs. George Sorrell, Mrs. Schuchman, Mrs. Reese and baby, Mrs. Marion Ferguson and child, Mrs. W. B. Roman. The only thing that marred the pleasure of the afternoon was the regrets that were phoned in by three of her neighbors.

FAIRMEAD CREAMERY.

Ground is broken and work begun on a neat brick building, with cement floor and sanitary drainage on Fairmead Farm. It is situated on the road front barely a mile from the postoffice, and is a welcome addition to the manufacturing enterprises of Bryan.

The best, latest improved appliances with which to conduct the business of a small but high class creamery are ordered, and Mr. Kinnard expects to have the creamery in operation by April 1.

Mr. Kinnard hopes to secure the hearty co-operation of the farmers of the county by furnishing them the best market for their cream, of the merchants of Bryan by selling them first class, fresh butter for their trade and keeping this cream and butter money in the channels of home trade. Last but not least he hopes to secure the hearty co-operation of the good housekeepers of the city by supplying them with fine, fresh butter at moderate prices.

Mr. Kinnard wishes to thank all who are encouraging him in the enterprise and to especially commend the public spirit of those who even in these war times have subscribed the money to make the venture possible.

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Thedford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whitaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble."

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Thedford's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

Thedford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.

Your druggist sells and recommends Black-Draught. Price only 25c. Get a package to-day.
